ARRESTED NEGRO MAY NOT BE AXE MURDERER, CLAIM

Denial That Man Was Identified by Woman Made Today

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 24.—(AP)—While Jake Bird, Negro ex-convict from Utah, was held at the state penitentiary at Lincoln, Neb., as a hatchet slayer suspect, police again patrolled the city.

According to Deputy Sheriff John Dunn, Mrs. Harold Stribling, latest victim of the maniac, screamed "that's the man" when Bird was taken before her in the hospital yesterday. Nurses and Mrs. E. C. Henry, wife of Stribling's physician, say that Mrs. Stribling said was "take him away" and that she refused to say whether he was the man.

Bird denied the hatchet killings and attacks and maintained he was being "railroaded."

Bird denies he fits the description given by Mrs. Stribling, although Sheriff McDonald says he does. Mrs. Stribling's memory of her assailant is that he was a light-skinned Negro Bird is darker. She said her attacker weighed about 140 pounds and Bird weighs about 160. He has kinky hair while Mrs. Stribling said the man who entered their home had fine straight hair.

Bird said he spent the Saturday night before the Joseph Blackman slaying in a cabaret. Sunday night, before the slaying of Mrs. Waldo Resso and Miss Creta Brown, he claimed to have been at the same place and Monday and Tuesday night, he told officers he played cards.

Inspector Baum said he must have more evidence to convince him that Bird is the man wanted.

GRANGE FAVORS PRIVATE LEASE MUSCLE SHOALS

Also in For a Special Session Congress for Farm Relief

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The National Grange brought its annual convention to a close early today with action on a number of resolutions, one of them concerning Muscle Shoals, holding the delegates in session for several hours.

The Shoals declaration reiterated the Grange's stand for private operation of the property, but with a compromise stipulation that "unless a satisfactory lease can be effected soon, the property should be operated by the government."

Several western delegates held that the government should produce fertilizer on the property, while eastern members urged the Grange to re-affirm its policy adopted at the last two conventions providing for leasing to private companies, omitting all reference to government operation.

The Grange also voted to adopt the policy expressed by Senator McNary that "unless a comprehensive program including tariff revision can be passed at the short session we favor calling a special session of Congress for the purpose."

On the question of prohibition the delegates voted to insist that the government "honestly strive to make this country dry." Other resolutions adopted at the final session approved continuation of the present immigration restriction policies, approval of practical methods of cooperative control of the farm loan system, adequate state and federal appropriation for indemnification of owners of cattle which react to the tuberculosis test, and the restoration by the Federal Radio Commission of full time allotment to radio stations serving the farmer.

Senators Breakfast with Mr. Coolidge

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Resuming a custom of some years standing President Coolidge invited a group of fifteen Senators for an informal discussion today around the breakfast table at the White House.

The Senators, all of whom were Republicans, were Vice-President-elect Curtis of Kansas, Gillett of Massachusetts, Sackett of Kentucky, Shortridge of California, McNary and Steiwer of Oregon, Borah of Idaho, Dale of Vermont, Goff of West Virginia, Warren of Wyoming, Hale of Maine, Waterman of Colorado, Keyes of New Hampshire, the new senator who will take the seat of Frank Smith, Otis Glenn of Illinois, and Smoot of Utah.

Perpetuate Policy of Governor Smith

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Perpetuation of the "political ideals, policies and principles" of Alfred E. Smith, is the expressed object of the National Smithsonian League, incorporated here today by Herbert S. Newman, George H. Campton and Aloysius M. Moore, all of Chicago.

Establishment of branches or councils in all parts of United States and its possessions, is part of the League's plan. Its work would also be accomplished by printing, publishing and distributing literature in furtherance of the policies of Mr. Smith.

FIRE DEPARTMENT MADE RECORD IN TEST YESTERDAY

Deputy State Marshal Witnessed Run to Smith School

Members of the Dixon fire department hung up a new record yesterday afternoon in making their annual test run from the station to the E. C. Smith school building on West Seventh street. The alarm was received at about 3:30 and Chief Coffey dispatched both trucks to the scene. Within four minutes time from the receipt of the alarm, the department had arrived at the scene, attached two lines of hose which were connected to the new pump engine and water was thrown over the top of the school.

The pupils in the school were unaware of the test and the building was emptied in a very few minutes. The children on the upper floor using the spiral fire escape. Deputy State Fire Marshal Dawson of Moline was present and witnessed the test, after which he commended very highly the efficiency of the fire department and praised the equipment.

At 12:15 last night the department was summoned to the Glassburn garage. Gasoline from the pumps in front of the garage which overflowed, had caught fire from a discarded match or cigarette stump and burned furiously for a time. Some of the gasoline flowed into the basement, but the flames were extinguished before any great damage was done.

Five Day Week is Possible Says Green

New Orleans, Nov. 24.—(AP)—In a formal statement issued today, William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, declared that the five day week is "both practical and possible."

The statement said the five day week is a "necessary accompaniment of increased use of machines and mechanical power" and declared that "substantial progress" toward its adoption had been made during the past two years.

"Two major trends for which labor is responsible for watching," he said, "are; that hours of work be increasingly shortened in order that mechanical progress may raise standards of human welfare, and that wage increase shall correspond to increasing productivity."

"This latter purpose is both a measure of economic justice and a provision necessary to provide business with enough buyers for the increased output of industries."

Mr. Green said that 514 local unions report that their 165,029 members are now working a five day 40 hour week.

Ninety Policemen Affected by Probe

Philadelphia, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The number of policemen affected by a grand jury investigation of bootlegging, gang murders and police corruption, today totaled 90.

The investigation, started 15 weeks ago, has resulted in the dismissal of 22 members of the police department. These were three inspectors, 15 captains and four detectives.

Two other captains and three detectives have been sentenced to prison for extorting money from saloonkeepers; 52 men, comprising two captains, 20 detectives, 6 sergeants and 15 patrolmen, are under arrest, an assistant superintendent of police and eight captains are under suspension, and two captains have resigned.

The investigation also has resulted in the resignation of Harry C. Davis as Director of Public Safety.

Nation-wide Hook-up for President Sunday

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A countrywide radio hookup will be assembled tomorrow night for President Coolidge to read to the country his Thanksgiving Day proclamation. The proclamation will be broadcast over the National Broadcasting Company's Chain. Mr. Coolidge will read before a microphone set up in his study at the White House, beginning at 9 o'clock Eastern Standard Time.

KING GEORGE IS MUCH IMPROVED, BULLETIN SAYS

Queen Attends Concert as Her Consort's Cold Yields

BULLETIN

London, Nov. 24.—(AP)—An official bulletin on King George's condition late this afternoon stated that His Majesty had maintained the improvement noted this morning, his condition remaining the same.

"The King is very much better," said Queen Mary to Dame Ethel Smith, a widely known woman composer with whom she chatted this afternoon at a concert by the Royal Choral Society in Albert Hall. The Queen looked rather tired but her mien bore no evidence of worry when she left Buckingham Palace to go to the concert.

London, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Hope that the worst of King George's illness was past was replacing today the alarm that followed the announcement that there was congestion in one lung.

At the end of an anxious day the official bulletin of the King's physicians, Lord Dawson of Penn and Sir Stanley Hewitt, was issued. The statement said:

"The King had a quieter day. His temperature is lower and there was no further extension of the mischief in the lung."

If the King's illness now follows a mild course leading to recovery, there is little doubt that he will be advised as soon as convalescent to take another sea trip as he did during his last serious illness about four years ago. His physician at that time urged him never to spend another winter in England but to seek a milder climate. The King, however, set public devotion to duty first and ignored the medical advice.

Troops Marching on Bulgarian Insurgent

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Troops were marching today on Petrich, stronghold of Ivan Michailoff, leader of the belligerent faction of the Macedonian revolutionary party.

The order that soldiers arrest Michailoff came after an exchange of defiance between the leader and the government. It was expected that bitter fighting would ensue in the attempt to capture Michailoff.

The government sent an ultimatum ordering him to discontinue all acts of terrorism and to abandon his march on Sofia. He replied that federal members of the Bulgarian government deserved death and termed them the greatest enemies of the Macedonian people.

Athanase Burroff, Foreign Minister, acknowledged in parliament that the government was powerless to crush the revolutionary movement. This statement added to the fears of the population which believed that general martial law was inevitable.

State Supervisor Waterways is Sued

Chicago, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Suit for damages of $100,000 charging libel, was filed today against William F. Mulvihill, State Supervisor of Illinois Waterway Construction, by Thomas L. Warner of the Warner Construction Company.

The suit follows injunction proceedings against Mulvihill and Leslie Small, son of the Governor and State Supervisor of Purchases and Construction, in which the Warner Company sought to enjoin the state officials from awarding a contract because they had "fraudulently rejected the bid of the Warner Company."

The libel suit was filed after Mulvihill was quoted in the newspapers making remarks which Warner alleged were slanderous. "Mulvihill," counsel for Warner said, "is endeavoring to cover up his tracks on the great waste of public funds."

Annual Robbery of Fulfs' Confectionery

The Fulfs confectionery store on North Galena avenue was the scene of its almost annual robbery some time this morning, when robbers ransacking the place of business. Entrance was gained by breaking the upper sash of a window on the north side of the building and then raising the lower sash the thieves entered the building.

A new 22 caliber target pistol, a flash light and about two dollars in pennies were missing this morning. It is believed that the thieves were frightened away when they started ransacking the tobacco stock.

Noted Belgian Army Commander is Dead

Brussels, Nov. 24.—(AP)—General Baron Jacques of Dixmude, noted Belgian war general, died today of pneumonia. He was 70 years old. The seriousness of his illness became known only yesterday.

Mrs. Z. T. Glessner and son Donald of Boscomb, Wis., are here for a short visit with relatives and friends. Charles Plack is a patient at the Dixon public hospital to receive treatment for blood poisoning in his hand.

BRITISH LINER IS SINKING OFF AFRICAN COAST

Crew Saved, But Capt. Refuses to Leave His Vessel

London, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The Atlantic liners George Washington and Lancastria bound for Plymouth from New York notified their officials today that a succession of gales and tremendous seas were delaying them. Twenty vessels today were laying to northeast of the Isle of Wight in order to avoid the fierce gales.

Capetown, South Africa, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The British steamer Cariboo was reported to be sinking today 35 miles southwest of East London. The crew were stated to have abandoned her and been picked up by the British steamship Windsor Castle.

Captain Mitchell of the Cariboo remained aboard his sinking ship. Heavy weather prevailed last night when the vessel left East London where she had been loading cargo for the United States.

Later the vessel sent a wireless message stating that she was aground at Keiskamma but afterward the ship was refloated under her own steam.

It was believed that the Windsor Castle was standing by hoping to save the Captain.

STRIKE THREATS EVAPORATE IN NEW WAGE SCALE

Trainmen of Western Railroads Accept Board's Award

Chicago, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Strike threats of 42,000 railroad trainmen and conductors of western railroads had evaporated today as a new wage scale became effective on 55 western railroads.

J. W. Higgins, chairman of the conference committee of managers of western railroads, said the new scale, providing a 6-1-2 per cent increase, will add $6,500,000 to the payrolls. The new agreement is retroactive to May 1, last, and runs until May 1, 1929.

Although the Chicago & Alton is the only road running westward from here that is not a party to the agreement, its employees are expected to benefit, since officials several months ago agreed to abide by the settlement effected yesterday.

Acceptance of the federal fact-finding commission's recommendation yesterday culminated months of controversy and conferences, followed by a strike vote of trainmen and conductors of the western roads.

In accepting the decision of the federal commission the railroads conceded to employees the right to enforce present working rules without changes—a point that had proved the chief barrier to an earlier agreement. Both parties rejected an alternate proposal of the commission providing an increase of 7½ per cent with changes in the rules.

The unions, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors, had sought a 15 per cent increase.

Youth Arrested for Transporting Liquor

Chicago, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The arrest of an 18-year-old boy driving an automobile loaded with liquor today gave impetus to the official investigation of bootlegging and drinking among Chicago high school students and led police to believe a syndicate was back of the student liquor situation.

The youth, Meyer Price, was arrested within a half block of the Foster school, two motorcycle policemen taking him in custody after they saw a box filled with bottles in the rear seat of his motor car. The box contained 65 pint bottles of gin. A 5 gallon container of alcohol also was found.

Price denied the officers to take him to jail, declaring the automobile belonged to a wealthy Evanston man "who was connected with 'big shots' in the liquor racket and would get the officers into trouble" if they arrested him. Price said he had been hauling liquor for two years.

Meanwhile, Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today issued 46 injunctions against establishments whose proprietors had been convicted for violating the dry laws.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

Chicago, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Borg-Warner Corporation of Chicago directors have declared a quarterly stock dividend of 2 per cent in common and regular quarterly cash dividend of $1 on the common, both payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 20. Common in past been paying $1 cash quarterly only. Directors intend to maintain a 2 per cent stock and $1 cash quarterly dividends, placing the stock on a $4 annual cash and 8 per cent stock dividend basis.

Tax Suit Dropped

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The government's attempt to levy an additional $30,000,000 income tax assessment against the original Ford Motor Company stockholders, including Senator Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, has been definitely abandoned.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

KILLED RED FOX

Leslie and Lester Smith of 916 First street, while hunting yesterday, killed a young red fox.

CALLED HOME BY DEATH

Cadet Dwight Thompson of St. John's military academy at Deltafield, Wis., is visiting at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Willard Thompson, having been called by the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Laura Thompson of Leland.

TOOK TEAM TO GAME

Coach A. C. Bowers and his heavyweight football squad enjoyed a trip to Urbana this morning to witness the Illinois-Ohio State game. The boys went down in private cars, leaving at an early hour.

TITLE IS AT STAKE

The championship of the Rock River Valley Conference of high schools of which Dixon is a member, will doubtless be determined at the game being played this afternoon at Mendota. A number of local fans motored to Mendota to witness the game which is being played with Rochelle. Both teams are very evenly matched and have had an unusually successful season, winning the majority of their games.

STERLING NEGRO FINED

Sterling Atkins, colored, of Sterling, employed at the Galt hotel, took his employer's car yesterday afternoon and with friends came to Dixon. Enroute home, the car ran into a ditch near Gap Grove and the actions of the driver resulted in a call being sent to Sheriff Ward Miller. Atkins was arrested and brought back to the county jail. Later in the afternoon he was assessed a fine of $25 and costs by Justice Martin Gannon on a charge of being intoxicated and disorderly, which was paid by one of his passengers. A tow car from Sterling pulled the car out of the ditch and hauled it to a Sterling garage.

BURIAL AT MALTA

The body of Clyde Nolte, chief at Chuck's Inn, who died of burns at the Dixon hospital Tuesday night, was taken to Malta yesterday. Services were conducted at 10:30 at the Malta cemetery, attended by members of his family. This afternoon at 2 o'clock, members of DeKalb post of the American Legion will hold their service at the grave and a firing squad will give the salute to the departed comrade.

The DeKalb Legion committee did not learn of the funeral plans soon enough to arrange a military service for the departed war veteran, and because of this, the Legion service was arranged for this afternoon.

President of Eureka College Has Resigned

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Speculation was rife today among the student body as to who would succeed Bert Wilson as president of Eureka College of the Christian church.

His resignation yesterday met the demands of students and dissipated their threats of a strike if faculty changes suggested by Wilson were adopted. Wilson urged consolidation of some departments under fewer department heads and the student body charged him with exerting a harmful moral influence.

Questioning the feasibility of continuing a church school such as Eureka in a small town in the face of present civilization and educational trends, Wilson submitted his resignation to trustees with the wish that they have a free rein in settling difficulties with the student body.

Wilson refused to "dignify the immoral influence charge by answering it."

Lindbergh Hunting at Tampico, Mexico

Tampico, Mexico, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today put aside his flying helmet and was ready with rod and gun for a few days sport in the vicinity of Tampico. He will go to the nearby town of Antouca with Colonel Alexander MacNab, military attaché of the American embassy; William Green, vice president of the Huasteca Petroleum Company, and others to fish and hunt duck for a few days before returning his homeward flight by way of Brownsville, Texas.

Colonel Lindbergh arriving here after a flight of about two and a half hours from Mexico City, was given an enthusiastic reception and became the city's guest of honor.

(Telegraph Special Service)
DeKalb, Nov. 24.—The inquest into the death of Elmer Hess, Van Petten automobile dealer and merchant, who was fatally injured on the afternoon of November 6 in an automobile accident has again been continued until Thursday afternoon December 20. The continuance was taken when the coroner's jury met Thursday afternoon to hear additional evidence. No new testimony was available and the investigation which has been under way since the death of Mr. Hess was again postponed until near the end of the year.

EQUALIZATION IS MISSING FROM Mc- NARY'S NEW BILL

Hope to Pass Measure at Coming Short Session of Congress

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—An old acquaintance, dressed in slightly different raiment, is waiting for the members of Congress. It is a farm relief bill, drafted by Chairman McNary of the Senate agriculture committee, and it is to be pressed for a vote at the approaching short session.

The measure calls for the establishment of a federal farm board with membership of twelve to take over the marketing of surplus crops—over the equalization fee, the cause of many a legislative quarrel, is missing. Senator McNary, co-author of the twice vetoed McNary-Haugen bill, has sought to follow the administration's ideas on how to help the farmers. The new bill abandons the equalization fee, but it puts the cost of surplus marketing on the government.

To control surplus
It would permit the setting up of stabilization corporations over the country to supervise crop marketing. It being the theory that in the event of a crop surplus the corporations would keep this surplus off the market, thus helping prices. The surplus then would be disposed of in off-seasons.

Senator McNary said that administration support of his measure is certain, and that experts from the Departments of Agriculture and the Treasury helped him get it in shape. He believes that it can be disposed of at the short session.

Then in some quarters there is the feeling that judicious alterations of the tariff would help agriculture. Two of Mr. Hoover's strong supporters, Senators Borah and Brookhart, have contended that tariff revision is almost specific in the cure for agriculture. They may insist on the extra session, promised by Mr. Hoover if the farm problem is not satisfactorily disposed of at the coming session.

Speaker Longworth of the House is of the opinion that the House can dispose of farm relief at this session.

May Re-open World Court Negotiations

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—President Coolidge is understood to be ready to have Secretary Kellogg reopen negotiations with foreign powers to obtain their approval of the reservations proposed by the Senate in voting American adherence to the World Court.

The understanding that Mr. Coolidge is interested in reviving the subject was held by members of a Senatorial party of fifteen who had breakfast at the White House today. They related also that the President expressed a hope of action at the forthcoming session of Congress on the Kellogg treaty for renunciation of war and the naval construction bill.

Several nations declined to accept the American reservations surrounding its proposed entry into the World Court and the question of American adherence to the court has been regarded as a closed subject.

Today the President is understood to have evinced a desire to have Secretary Kellogg take up this subject with the world powers and it is reported that members attending the breakfast interposed no objections.

Funeral of Mrs. Thompson Sunday

The funeral of Mrs. Laura Thompson, mother of Dr. Willard Thompson of this city, will be held from her home at Leland Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be made at Sandwich. The services will be conducted from the childhood home of Mrs. Thompson, the residence having been in the home of the family for the past 72 years. Dr. Thompson, wife and two sons will motor to Leland in the morning to attend the services.

Mrs. Thompson had visited in Dixon with her son and family on numerous occasions and was very well known here. She was a cousin of Arthur Fletcher, who is commanding the battleship, U. S. S. Maryland, on which President-elect Herbert Hoover is now enroute to South America. She is survived by five sons, Henry of Leland, Frank and George of Los Angeles, Cal., Arthur of New York City and Willard of Dixon.

Husband of Woman Senator Died Today

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Jacob A. Bohrer, son-in-law of former Governor Joseph W. Pifer of Illinois, was found dead in his bed today. He had been suffering from heart disease.

Mr. Bohrer, whose wife was Florence Fifer Bohrer, the only woman in the state Senate, was Master-in-Chancery of McLean county and was formerly chairman of both the McLean county and Bloomington Republican committees. The widow, a son and daughter survive.

"It is only a dollar. It may mean one thousand to your family in case of death. Our accident insurance policy costs you $1.00. The Evening

CARROLLS' TRIAL SET FOR JAN. 21 BY JUDGE TODAY

Defense Will Seek a Change of Venue, Intimation

Tuscola, Ill., Nov. 24.—(AP)—The trial of Emil Carroll, former professional baseball player, and his brother, William, Jr., Atwood farmer, charged with the murder of Walter McAllister, Emil Carroll's farm hand, today was set by Judge D. H. Wamaley in Douglas County Circuit Court for January 21 next.

Defense attorneys indicated after the trial date had been set that they might ask later for a change of venue on the ground that it would be impossible to obtain a fair trial in Douglas county.

McAllister was found dead after an automobile in which he and Emil Carroll were riding had been struck by a freight train. An inquiry was started when it was found that insurance policies totaling more than $15,000 recently taken out on his life named Carroll or his wife as beneficiaries.

Thousands Homeless Result of Typhoon

Manila, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Advises that several thousand persons had been made homeless and hundreds of homes destroyed in the typhoon which has raged through the south central part of the Philippine archipelago for two days were received here today. No deaths have been reported.

A dispatch to the bulletin from Legaspi, Albay Province, said 7,000 persons were homeless and that four hundred dwellings and seven wharves had been destroyed as the result of a 100 mile an hour gale. A big landslide at Mayon volcano, a short distance north of Legaspi, also was reported.

Red Cross headquarters here made preparations to launch relief measures in the event that later information indicated such a need.

Confesses Robbery of Fifty-Seven Homes

Cambridge, Ill., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Claude W. Howard, who claims New Hampton, Iowa, as his home confessed to the Sheriff here that he had burglarized 57 homes in Iowa and Illinois since last July. He is held in the county jail to await the action of the grand jury, following his arrest at Geneseo recently.

HOOVER IN GALE, UNDISTURBED AS SEA POUNDS SHIP

Works on the Short Talks He Will Make in Latin America

BULLETIN

U. S. S. Maryland, Nov. 24.—(AP)—President-elect Hoover today officially announced that the schedule of his good will tour to Latin-America would be delayed 24 hours at all points. Communications to this effect have been sent to all the countries which will be visited.

Despite the storm Mr. Hoover was on the bridge of the Maryland the entire forenoon. At 11:00 A. M. the wind had slackened to 45 miles an hour and the speed of the ship was increased to 13 knots.

U. S. S. Maryland, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The battleship Maryland, bearing President-elect Herbert Hoover and his party on his tour of Latin America, today was riding a gale which at one time attained a velocity of seventy miles an hour.

The good will ship rode the storm well. Mr. Hoover apparently was undisturbed by the gale.

At the height of the storm the waves broke over the clipper bow, throwing spray as high as the bridge of the big dreadnaught. At times the water was four or five feet deep in the forecastle as well as on the quarterdeck, where

TODAY'S MARKET REPORTS

HOLIDAY TODAY IN WALL STREET STOCK EXCHANGE

But Clerks Labor in Effort to Balance Their Books

New York, Nov. 24—(AP)—Trading on the floor of the New York Exchange was suspended today as the clerical forces of brokerage houses attempted to catch up with the "Hoover Market."

The suspension was ordered during a record-breaking day Friday which saw 6,942,300 shares traded in, greater by over 100,000 than any previous day in the exchange's history.

The work has been piling up in ever increasing volume since Nov. 7 and all other departments of the stock exchange were going at full force today in an effort to restore the books to some semblance of order.

There was much profit taking yesterday, which held gains below those forecast at the opening of the market before it was known the Saturday suspension had been ordered. In the first half hour of trading there was a turnover of 1,327,200 shares, which was at the rate of more than 13,000,000 shares for the day. It was the most turbulent buying session ever seen on the floor, old time members said.

Buckeyes Invade Illinois Today

Here are some of those Ohio State stalwarts who will invade the University of Illinois stadium November 24 to meet Bob Zuppke's men in the last game of the season. Buckeye-Illini battles are famous for their thrill and excitement and there seems to be no reason to doubt that this year's game will follow tradition.

Leo Raskowski, All-American tackle, will play in the stadium for the last time as he made his bow there as a sophomore in 1926 in that memorable 7-6 victory of Ohio State. To cope with Raskowski is a job for any lineman.

Barratt, a 236-pound center, has been a sensation although this is his first season. He has talent as a place-kicker. The others pictured are more or less prominent in the Buckeye array.

The largest crowd that ever saw an Illinois-Illinois game in the Illinois stadium is assured, but C. E. Bowen, Illinois' ticket manager, announces that many seats in desirable locations are available.

First Damage Suit from Ship Disaster

New York, Nov. 24—(AP)—The first damage action resulting from the sinking of the steamer, Vestris was begun in federal court today when Orrin S. Stevens, a survivor, filed a summons and complaint in a suit for $52,000.

He also filed a libel against the Liverpool, Brazil & River Plate Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., and Lamport & Holt, Ltd., as owners and operators of the Vestris.

Counsel for Stevens obtained from Federal Judge Bondy an order that subpoenas be issued for 123 members of the Vestris crew, who were booked to sail today on the liner Voltair for Barbados. The subpoenas require the members of the crew to appear Monday for the taking of depositions.

Stevens, who is manager of the First National Bank of Boston's branch at Buenos Aires, lost his wife in the disaster.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE JUDAH

Most any American girl, general belief both at home and abroad has it, will do anything to marry a title. But one observes that "a mere show girl," Jessica Brown, once of the Folies, has divorced her husband, the Earl of Northesk whose title made her a countess. To be sure, divorce or no, she may still use the "countess" title without the annoyance of an Earl husband, which sort of spoils the argument. But there was Countess Salm, nee Millicent Rogers, who divorced her count and remarried a mere Mr. Titles must be much like French pastry—much better to contemplate from a distance than to own.

NO PRINCESS! For years the school children of Hackensack, N. J., had thrilled at the sight of "a real Egyptian princess mummy" in their town's county historical museum. Bigger cities had mummies, but it took their town to have a mummy of the blood royal. The other day it was necessary to open the mummy case. Panicky officials nearly fainted when they found that "the princess mummy" was literally nothing but a bone and a rag and a hank of hair, some old clothes, a skull, a couple of old shoes, just a composite mummy, made up of odds and ends and no more a princess than the museum cat.

Hoax though it be, who shall say, however, that even the pleasure of deception throughout these years whenawed little kids thought they were seeing a real thing wasn't worth while? Most of us need fooling, if we can't get the real thing.

WAITRESSES CHEERED Seven waitresses, they say, were discharged from a Philadelphia club where a reception was held for Mrs. Herbert Hoover because they shouted from their locker room "Hooray for Al!" The club said that its employees were welcome to any political beliefs they cared to have, but that the incident was a direct insult to their guest. We believe the club was right. After all, if all the waiters and waitresses serving us all on various occasions had the right to tell us what they thought of us, we'd have miserable times.

THIS YOUTH! A 13-year-old boy of Nashua, N. H., Frank Rokas, is charged with the killing of his 13-year-old pal in crime, Adam Goodvitch. He confessed that

A DISH FOR JAM—

The scene, a country auction, on a day
When bright October held her radiant sway.
The auctioneer addressing long and loud
The persons of the play—a goodly crowd
Of bidders. Whether of high or low degree,
Each took his part with equal gravity.
Seeking adventure where it may be found
Midst articles collected on the ground
About the house, one almost unaware Came to a corner cupboard quaint and rare.
Here varied glass and china ware were placed,
Some with intrinsic worth and beauty graced—
The charm of lovely objects made for use.
Simplicity that can withstand abuse!
Dishes of white and amber glass lay there
Gleaming like jewels in the autumn air—
Could they be Sandwiche, Stiegel, Waterford?
Some puzzled at the question, some looked bored.
The white-haired lady of the home—stead smiled Indulgently, as at some favorite child—
"That dish, my dear? Its named I do not know,
But it was old some fifty years ago.
When I was asked to grandmother's for tea,
She filled it full of rich red jam for me.
Yes, it is old, for I have heard her say
It came to her upon her wedding day.
I hope you'll get it for a moderate price,
For when it's polished it will look real nice."
"Real nice!" it looks, reflecting golden light
When placed on damask that gleams snowy white
Beneath the candles; in its depths the glow
Of happy memories from the long ago!

Fraudulent Works of Art Fool Americans

New York, Nov. 24—(AP)—The New York Times today said it was estimated in art circles that modern sculpture masquerading as the work of fourteenth and fifteenth century masters had cost American collectors and museums $1,500,000.
The Times article followed revelations in Rome by an obscure Italian that his copies of renaissance sculpture had been sold to collectors as original.

Private owners, who thus far have kept their identities secret, have already demanded restitution from the Italian dealer who introduced the fakes into the country, the Times says.

One expert in this country who has seen some of the pieces called them remarkable copies, almost indistinguishable from the originals.

Philharmonic Society's Pleasant Meeting

The members of the Philharmonic Society had a pleasant meeting Wednesday evening with Miss Lucy Bovey. The paper of the evening was comprehensive and interesting, by Miss Lucille Hofmann, on "The Development of Musical Instruments."

After the business meeting and the reading of the paper, tempting refreshments were served during the happy social hour.

Mrs. George Huyett entertained at two tables of bridge Thursday evening, honoring Mrs. Carl Kling of Chicago. Mrs. C. E. Smith was awarded the prize for high score made during the very enjoyable evening. Mrs. Elmer Rice of Sterling was an out of town guest.

PLAYED IN SHUBERT CENTENNIAL CONCERT—

Miss Marie Worley took part in the Franz Schubert Centennial Concert which was given Tuesday night in Smith Memorial Hall at the University of Illinois. She played the brilliant "Impromptu in A Flat" Op. 90.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Grape fruit sections, cereal, cream, little sausages, rich muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Beef broth with noodles ham and celery salad, whole wheat bread, chocolate bread pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked spaghetti and beef with tomato sauce, beet and cabbage salad, cranberry and prune pie, milk, coffee.

The same meat does duty for the luncheon soup and dinner main dish. The meat becomes tasteless from the long simmering process of soup making but actually loses little of its nourishment. It should be carefully freed from fat, bone or gristle after cooked for soup and coarsely chopped for use in well seasoned combination dishes such as the spaghetti and tomato mixture in the dinner menu.

Rich Muffins

One-half cup butter, 1-2 cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs, 1-2 cups milk, 2 cups cornmeal, 11-4 cups white flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup cleaned currants.

Cream butter and gradually beat in sugar. Sift in 1-4 cup white flour and beat until thoroughly blended. Add eggs well beaten. Add cornmeal. Mix thoroughly and add milk. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and add with currants to mixture. Beat hard for a minute and bake 20 minutes in buttered and flowered muffin pans in a hot oven.

Impressive Wedding At Rockford Today

A beautiful and impressive, but quiet wedding was solemnized this morning at 10 o'clock at the parsonage to the Trinity Lutheran church in Rockford, the pastor, Reverend H. A. Bannen officiating at the ceremony which united in marriage Ernest Schoaf, son of Henry Schoaf, of 608 Dixon avenue, Rock Falls, and Miss Kathryn Reed, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Reed of Nelson.

The single ring ceremony was solemnized. The young people were unattended.

The attractive bride was lovely in a costume of brown tulle and crepe in one of the new shades, with accessories matching. She wore a beautiful corsage of bride's roses, violets and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Schoaf are enjoying a week end honeymoon trip, their destination being unannounced. The bride is the bookkeeper and stenographer at the Kline Auto Supply Co., on First street, in Dixon, and the bridegroom is employed by the Middleton Bottling Works of Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Schoaf will make their home with the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Henry Schoaf, 608 Dixon avenue, Rock Falls. Mrs. Schoaf will continue to hold her position at the Kline Auto Supply Co., making the trips to and from Sterling each day.

Both young people are popular in a large circle of friends who join in extending to them best wishes for their future happiness. She is a charming young woman, and has made many friends since coming to Dixon and occupying her present position, while her husband is a splendid and ambitious young man.

Kingdom-Mt. Union Aid Met Wednesday

The Kingdom-Mt. Union Aid Society met on Wednesday, Nov. 21, in an all day meeting with Mrs. Ralph Lievan at her country home.

There was a good attendance of members and guests present to enjoy the delicious dinner served at noon. The business meeting was called to order in the afternoon by the Vice-President, acting for the president in her absence.

The meeting was opened by all joining in singing a hymn, followed by roll call and minutes by the Secretary. A committee was appointed to purchase cards for the society. All other business was then disposed of, and the business meeting was closed by all joining in singing a hymn and repeating the Lord's Prayer.

There was no program committee for the day but a voluntary program was much enjoyed.

The guests then busied themselves with sewing. All departed late in the afternoon thanking Mrs. Lievan for the pleasant day spent at her home to meet again in two weeks with Mrs. Dave Heagy.

MEETING OF CLASS WITH MISS HELEN ROBERTS—

The Sunday school class of the Church of God, of which Miss Helen Roberts is a member, is holding a meeting this afternoon with Helen at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts, 302 West Everett street, between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock. A luncheon will be served. Miss Anna Drew, teacher of the class, was to be a guest.

MESDAMES NIXON AND BARTHOLOMEW ENTERTAIN—

Mesdames H. C. Bartholomew and William Nixon are entertaining with bridge today. Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Bartholomew have been giving a series of delightful parties.

Few Delinquents Come from Better Homes of Country

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AP)—"Very few delinquents come from good home life," Mrs. Andrew Sundene of Chicago, fourth vice president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, and its Public Welfare department director, said over radio station WMAQ.

"When we stop to consider the number of young people taken to police stations and into our courts daily," she said, "on complaints of larceny, stealing automobiles, incorrigibility, burglary, immorality, malicious mischief, concealed weapons, running away, and so forth, it not only calls for serious thought, but it also necessitates some intelligent action on the part of individuals and organizations."

"Around 19,000 of juvenile court age were brought before our police in one year and about 75,000 between the ages of 16 and 25 arraigned on these and even more serious charges. If we are to study the situation carefully we cannot be content with only a better administration of laws but we must know the causes that have contributed to this condition."

"Lack of normal home, homes broken by poverty, desertion, immorality, drink, vice, cruelty and ignorance, the child misunderstood at school, moral and spiritual neglect, lack of adequate opportunities for constructive recreation, lack of supervision of leisure time lack of guidance and protection of the working child are all factors that contribute to delinquency."

"Our crime problem will be greatly solved when we prevent juvenile delinquency. The successful program must begin not with the criminal and the law but with the child, the home, the school and the community. We must know something of our laws and pending legislation especially that concerning children, and then teach law observance by observing the law ourselves. Thereby we may instill respect or authority which is so lacking in many people today."

Congress Parents and Teachers Supports Legislative Program

Peoria—(AP)—One hundred thousand members of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers are actively supporting a six-fold legislative program to be presented to the 56th General Assembly. Mrs. H. W. Whitten of Carthage, president of the congress, said in an address here, sponsored by the Peoria Child Welfare League.

"Merely naming them as they are now formulated," Mrs. Whitten said, "they are—
"An increased distributive fund.
"A minimum school term of eight months."

"Higher qualifications for beginning teachers."

"Larger school districts."

"More liberal support for teacher training institutions."

"Equalization of tax assessments."

Two other measures, Mrs. Whitten said, will be formulated for presentation at the December meeting of the Illinois State Teachers' association, and will be made a part of the legislative program of both the teachers association and of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Whitten reviewed progress of the Congress in Illinois. "Projects undertaken and carried through by local congress units are indicative of the clear understanding of the purposes of the organization by local leaders," she said.

"Among the activities reported at the district conferences have been just terminated, are: co-operation of parents with teachers in promoting the school program, a better acquaintanceship among the parents and between parents and teachers, an improvement in school equipment—sometimes bond issues successfully carried, beautifying of school grounds, establishing school or public libraries, aid in keeping indigent children in school, a betterment in community social conditions (a mayor in one town in welcoming the delegates said that social conditions in the town had improved to 100 per cent condition since the parent-teacher association had come into existence and this improvement was due solely to the parent-teacher organization. In this case town a public P. T. A. bulletin board on a prominent corner of a business block carried announcements for the association showing that the organization was a community as well as a school asset), health activities including milk lunches, hot lunches at noon, Summer Round-Up, dental clinics and physical inspection of all the school children, and many general association activities."

"A special program in parental education is being carried on through a department in our state bulletin and through the work of the chairmen of Child Study Circles and Home Education, Mrs. Victor Munneke of Chicago and Mrs. Charles Bennett of Peoria."

"It is not the purpose of the Illinois Congress to tell any parents how to train their child but it is the purpose of to arouse parents to the seriousness of parenthood and to a realization of the fact that they are the child's first and should be most efficient teacher or guide in all problems of character formation and development. The parent fails surely he cannot place the blame on the school or the community if his child is not all he desires. A better understanding of child nature and child problems through the different ages of childhood to maturity, and then ability and guidance to meet those problems for the best growth of the child in the four fold development is the purpose of parental education as sponsored by the Illinois Congress."

Sixty-fourth Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

Galena, Ill., Nov. 24—(AP)—Back in 1864 a timid young couple went down to the Methodist parsonage on Prospect Street and took the marriage vows "until death doth us part." Today the same couple celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sales, each now 84 years old, the first of four generations of their family residing in Galena.

At their home in the Galena Hotel which Mr. Sales operates, the aged couple today received felicitations from friends and relatives throughout the country and reminisced on earlier days and changes that have taken place. Mr. Sales personally knew Gen. U. S. Grant when the man who later became President was a citizen of Galena.

Mr. Sales told of the early days when steamboats docked and unloaded on the levees at Galena, now Riverside Drive.

Shortly after their marriage the couple took part in the gold rush to White Pine, Nevada, but returned to Galena not long afterward, deciding the hotel business was a surer way of earning a livelihood. As a side line Mr. Sales was an auctioneer and considered that his most interesting as well as his most profitable venture.

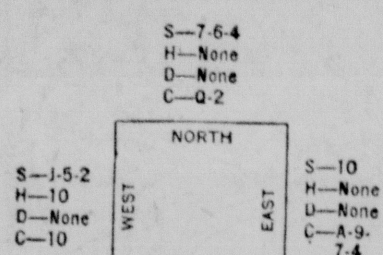

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sales came from families of 14 children but they themselves had only one child, a daughter, who resides in Galena. A grandson and great grandson also live in Galena. Mrs. Sales still performs her share of the duties around the hotel and Mr. Sales retains his active interest in the management of his hostelry.

BRIDGE PUZZLE

BY FAYAN MATHEY

Hearts are trumps and South has the lead. North and South must win three of the five tricks against a perfect defense.

Lay out the cards on the table as shown in the diagram, and study the situation. See if you can find a method of play which will give North and South three tricks.

THE SOLUTION
In this problem the opponents are gradually but very decisively placed in a helpless position.

South first leads his trump, on which North discards a spade. South then leads his queen of spades, and then the three of spades, which West wins with the jack. West then leads his club, and North plays low. If East overtakes west's club with the ace, North takes the final trick with the queen. If East does not overtake, West is forced to lead a spade to South's good mine.

Of course the main point in this problem is whether or not North covers West's lead of a club. If North does so, East and West, instead of North and South, win three of the five tricks.

acters to address the members at the stated meetings.

A short while ago Dr. Preston Bradley, one of Chicago's noted preachers addressed the club. At the last meeting, November 10th, President Irving Maurer of Beloit College addressed the members. At the meeting this afternoon Mr. John P. Nolf of Chicago, gave a talk on Art.

During the month of December Mrs. Lucy D. Ball of the Geneva School for Girls will address the Club. Forst Conservation, illustrated with slides, will be discussed by Mildred Watson of Minooka, Ill., on January 26, 1929. February 9th, the Northwestern University Drama Artists will appear before the Club in program. Helen B. Paulson, of Chicago, authority on "Child Welfare and Public Health" will spend the day of February 23rd in Dixon and address the Club. "The Personality in the Home" will be the subject of an address by Mrs. Christine Carter of Chicago March 9th. On March 23rd "The Romance of Precious Stones" will be the subject of an address by Abram Mendenhall, Mr. Mendenhall comes through the courtesy of C. D. Peacock of Chicago.

Miss Marion O'Connor of Chicago will appear before the Club in an Artist Recital, and May 11th the American Home Department of the Club will bring to Dixon Major Welch of Chicago.

It will be noticed that the Club is giving during the winter months a program of interest by talent brought from the various sections of Illinois and Wisconsin. All this aids materially in advertising Dixon and the city's beauty and advantages. Every effort along this line is a boost for Dixon and makes our city prominent among the aggressive cities of the state.

CRIPPLED CHILD DESIRES BLACKBOARD—

A crippled child in Dixon is most anxious to have a blackboard. The little girl is a good, ambitious, hopeful child and anyone having a blackboard which they will give for this purpose, may communicate with Mrs. Cass Byrd, (formerly Miss Amy Petersberger) who is instructor for the crippled children.

So. Dixon Community Club Held Meeting

The South Dixon Community club met Wednesday, Nov. 21, with Mrs. Walter Lievan, and Mrs. Roy Fischer and Mrs. Robt. Lievan assisting.

A very appetizing dinner was served at the noon hour. Most of the day was spent in tying comforters for the hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president. It was decided that each member should bring enough material for two blocks for a comforter, to be cut at the next meeting. The business disposed of the following program was enjoyed.

Each member read a short Thanksgiving verse. Each guest was given a slip of paper telling of some stunt they had to give, and this caused a great deal of laughter among the guests. Mrs. Roy Fischer entertained with some sleight of hand performances. A girl's name contest was given, Mrs. Robert Lievan winning the prize.

The meeting then came to a close. and the next meeting will be with Mrs. William Remmers.

Enjoyable Bridge Luncheons Given

On Wednesday Mrs. W. H. Coppins, Mrs. W. D. Craig, Mrs. Dwight Chapman and Mrs. C. G. Tyler were hostesses at a charming 1 o'clock bridge luncheon given at the attractive new home of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler. There were guests for ten tables. A delightful luncheon was served, the decorations for the tables and throughout the rooms being chrysanthemums in various beautiful shades. Mrs. Adolph Eichler was awarded the favor for high honors at bridge; Mrs. W. D. Hart was awarded the favor for second honors and Mrs. I. E. McLaren received the consolation favor. On Thursday afternoon Mrs. W. D. Craig, Mrs. Dwight Chapman and Mrs. C. G. Tyler entertained with a 1 o'clock bridge luncheon at the Tyler home in North Dixon, guests for nine tables. Chrysanthemums in rich autumn colorings were the decorations. A tempting luncheon was served. At the conclusion of the happy afternoon of bridge it was found that Mrs. Werner Marioth had the highest score and she received the favor for first honors; Mrs. Isador Eichler received the favor for second highest score and Mrs. E. X. Newcomer received the consolation favor.

These parties were two of the most enjoyable and successful of the autumn season.

Luncheon Enjoyed Friday by Ladies

The ladies' reception room at the Reynolds Wire Company's plant No. 1 has been completely remodeled and repainted and cleaned and now presents a most inviting appearance. It made its "first appearance" yesterday at the noon hour when Mrs. Clarence Boone, who seemed to be aware that the room would be ready, was hostess at a most enjoyable luncheon. The girls and ladies, eighteen from the bobbin department, had their luncheon with them, but this was augmented by the appetizing delicacies furnished by Mrs. Boone and everyone had a delightful time at the first luncheon in the new reception room. It is hoped that this will be the first of a number of such enjoyable affairs.

Large Attendance Desired for Monday

All members are urged to attend all classes on Monday night. People are becoming busy with Christmas shopping and activities. This is the reason why it is so important that they keep physically fit. Monday night should be saved for recreation that will be healthful and restful.

Many members forget that they have an engagement at the Y on Monday. It is urged that they come and get full benefit from their memberships. The department aims for 100 per cent in attendance—come and help it reach the goal.

GIRLS' CHOIR TO GIVE PROGRAM SUNDAY AT 4 P. M.—

There will be a Vesper Service and a beautiful program of music by the Girls' Choir of St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

FASHION HINTS—DIFFERENT FURS

Tweed suits and separate coats take entirely different kinds of furs this season. Suits favor short, curly furs, like caracul, astrakan, broadtail and curly lamb. Coats use long-haired pelts such as badger, lynx, wolf and fox.

GORED SKIRT

The black crepe de chine skirt of an ensemble with a scarlet overblouse, is made of innumerable little gores that give the impression of a circular skirt that is pleated. It is extremely graceful.

DOLMAN EFFECT

A deep brown cloth coat has a position collar of fitch that gives the effect of a dolman, though the coat has sleeves under the collar.

THE POOR INDIAN.

Wealth of Indians of the southwest, poured into their laps by oil companies, has featured so many articles in newspapers that the nation has come to think of Indians as wards living from proceeds of good lands or of oil deposits.

It is because such prosperity is unusual among Indians that these facts are worthy of particular attention; that they make good reading. The other side is given by Secretary Work of the department of the interior in a report on living conditions of the original American.

Dr. Work says the condition of the Indian, socially and economically, constitutes a national emergency that demands immediate attention. Most of the Indians, the survey says, are poor and are not adjusted to the dominant white civilization. Their vitality is low and their death rate high. Tuberculosis and trachoma are prevalent and living conditions among a majority of them are conducive to the development and spread of disease.

Income of the typical Indian family is said to be so low as to place it little above actual want. His earned income is meager.

Improvement and expansion of the Indian service is recommended by Secretary Work, and, of course, that calls for added appropriations. As every department of governmental activity is calling for more money, the recommendation by secretary of the interior does not stand out as it otherwise might.

Back in the '80s, when Sitting Bull used to go on a rampage, we heard more about the Indians. Now they are quiet and we are busy and we put them in the hands of a bureau at Washington and forget them.

The Indians seem to have lacked the right kind of publicity agents. It is possible to interest the public in the Indians in a proper manner. In our opinion the public wants the government to deal fairly with the red men who were driven back to make room for the whites. This interest should be stimulated through the department of the interior, which can present the case justly. Regardless of merit, the publicity would be cast aside easily if it came from the Indians to be benefited.

"MONOTONOUS ROUTINE."

Because he was "tired of this monotonous routine," a physician in a Pennsylvania town ended his life the other day. He had found in the human spectacle merely an unchanging series of events dull and uninteresting, empty of inspiration and surprise.

This monotonous routine—the miracle of a birth; the fearful and wonderful mystery of our making—

The marvel of a mountain morning, of a seaside sunset, wild flowers in a mountain cranny, of trees and clouds and rain—

The thunderous legion of the sky sending barrages of cracking fire into the heart of a mighty forest—

A child with eyes aglow giving to a beggar in the street the coin that had been saved for treasured sweets—

Lovers on a park bench in the moonlight, with soft music stealing from a nearby pavilion where dancing feet keep a merry beat—

Men with planes and ships flying their brave challenge at the Poles, defying winds that blow men flat and cold that eats its way through clothing of the heaviest skins—

A doctor, slipping his knife into a man's skull and restoring the faculty by which man differs from horses and cattle, or straightening the limbs that cruel disease deformed—

A family in poverty lifted into the light by an "unknown" friend—

A truck driver halting his ponderous machine that laughing children may cross the street in safety—

A boy leading a blind man across the street, and a man who can't swim leaping into the surf, hoping against hope to save one drowning—

A lad from the cornfields of Iowa and a young urchin from the crowded streets of New York chosen to lead two great national parties in a contest for the presidency—

Monotonous routine? Rather, miracles!

The War Department says that enlisted men of the Army drank 51,000,000 cups of tea last year. Must be getting ready to invade Great Britain.

A policeman in Iowa City shot at a man who wasn't hurt because the bullet struck a bottle in his hip pocket. The moral is obvious.

Perhaps those Chicago politicians named in the sanitary district graft cases were only trying to clean up.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNOCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The star kept speeding through the sky, and then it heard the Tinies cry, "Oh, please don't go 'way down to earth. We'd rather stay up here. The Tinies whom we left behind would really be quite hard to find if we should land upon the ground. Right now they're very near."

"Now, don't you worry," said the star. "We're going to stay right where we are. If I should hit the earth, I'm sure 't would be the end of me. I'll merely shoot around until you Tinymites get tired out. Then I'll return you to your boat as quick as quick can be."

And so a half an hour passed by and then the star heard Coppy sigh. "I think I'm growing weary," Scouty promptly said. "Me too!" "All right," the shooting star replied. "I'll bring an end to this long ride." And then it took them back, as it had promised it would do.

When they were on their boat all right, the little star shot out of sight.

Jury Ignores Order of Cook Co. Coroner

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AP)—A "millionaire Coroner's jury" so called because of the wealth and prominence of its members, today won its argument with Coroner Oscar Wolf in an effort to delay further inquiry into the death of William McSwiggin, Assistant State's Attorney, slain more than two years ago.

McSwiggin was shot and killed as he rode with several companions through Cicero in an automobile and the jury investigating his death never was disbanded. Last Monday Coroner Wolf issued subpoenas for the members of the jury in an effort to force them to reassemble before he retired from office the first of December.

Joseph R. Noel, bank president and foreman of the jury, informed the Coroner that the jury did not choose to meet at this time and it was reported the jury intended to delay the meeting until Mr. Wolff's successor is in office and until a new State's Attorney are sworn in. Coroner Wolf today announced the meeting would not be held.

"Oh, my!" said Coppy, "we're alone." He spoke in quite a frightened tone. "The sky is getting very dark. I'm really scared a bit. I rather wish this ride was through. If it should storm, what could we do? Let's not stand up within the boat. 'Tis better that we sit."

Then, suddenly the little cloud gave quite a scare to all the crowd. It seemed to sort of shiver, and their boat rocked to and fro. "Oh, look!" yelled Coppy. "We will fall. This little cloud's not safe at all. It's raining now, and breaking up. I guess we're doomed to go."

(The Tinymites save themselves in the next story.)

Three Die in Crash

Monroe, Mich., Nov. 23—(AP)—Two school children and a man were killed, and a third pupil was probably fatally injured this morning when their automobile was struck at a street crossing here by an interurban car.

The dead are Logan Swope, 15; Jeanette Swope, 13, and W. F. Koch, 52.

Koch, who was a neighbor of the Swope family, was taking the Swope children to school here when the accident occurred.

FARM RELIEF ALL READY FOR ACTION AT SHORT SESSION

Other Important Bills To Come Before Congress Soon

Washington, Nov. 23—(AP)—Legislative monuments, in the form of laws, were erected at the first session of the seventieth congress to flood control and tax reduction but farm relief awaits the opening of the approaching short session with the confidence of an unconquered veteran.

When it takes place as a problem still unsolved, it probably will bring with it two others seeking solution, tariff revision and the question of an extra session.

Hoover's Guarded Promise
Herbert Hoover, president-elect has promised an extra session to deal with farm relief in case no satisfactory solution is found at the short session and Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Republican leader of the House, suggested at the White House yesterday that an extra session to consider tariff revision would be advisable.

Muscle Shoals Up Again
There were other signs yesterday that Congress is almost at hand. Muscle Shoals, an orphan for years, had its face washed in anticipation, perhaps, of the time when it will find a permanent home.

A delegation of southerners, headed by Representative Almon of Alabama, called on President Coolidge and gained the impression that he favors the Madden Bill which provides for the leasing of the property for 50 years to the American Cynamid Company.

In some quarters there is the belief that Muscle Shoals has already been disposed of. A resolution by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, providing for limited government operation, passed the last session. It received a pocket veto but Norris contends that this did not kill the resolution and he intends to go to law about the matter. A similar case is now pending before the supreme court and Norris will abide by that decision.

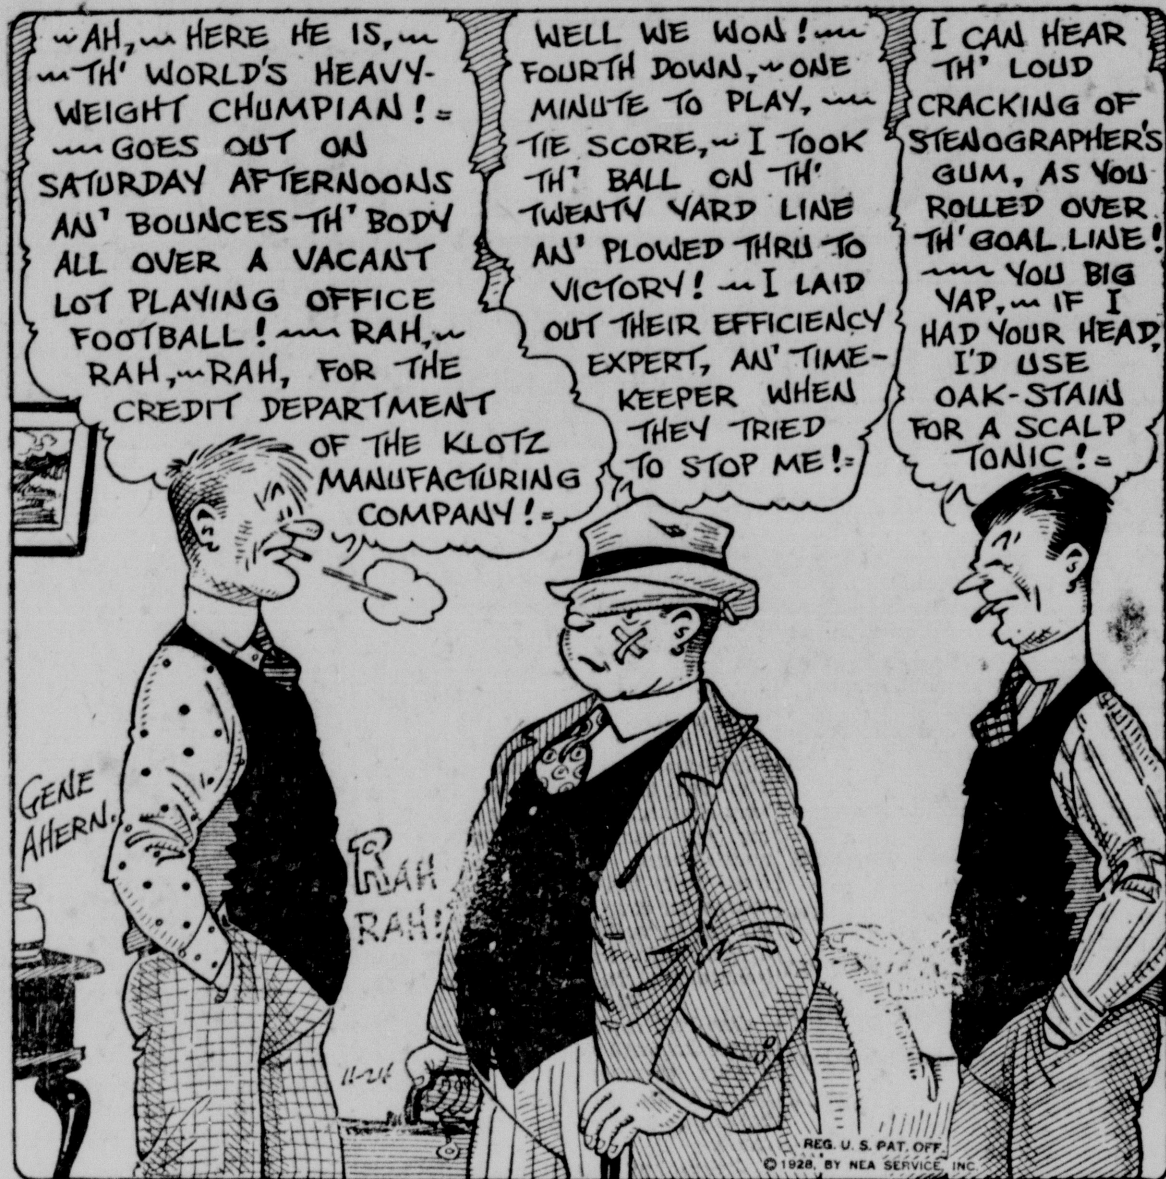

Kellogg Pact To Come
The Kellogg pact comes up at the short session, as does the $274,000,000 cruiser construction bill. Caution is being exercised lest they get in one another's way. Chairmen Borah and Hale of the Senate foreign and naval committees, had a talk yesterday and a truce seems in the making.

Afterwards Hale expressed confidence that the cruiser bill and Kellogg treaty would not conflict and Borah said that he saw no reason why they should. The cruiser bill has already passed the house. Hale said he believed that it would be taken up immediately after disposition of Boulder Canyon Dam, which has the right of way, having been approved of by the House.

May Delay Canyon Dam
The leader of the fight for the Canyon Dam Bill, Senator Johnson,

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERNS

Republican of California, may not be here for the opening of the session. He is recovering from an attack of influenza. The measure may be laid aside while keeping its preferential status, until he puts in an appearance.

Senator King, of Utah, called at the White House yesterday. He does not favor the Boulder Dam project but he hazarded the prediction that it would probably pass "in some form or other." He added, however, that if it passed it would be over his continued opposition.

Director Resigns

Philadelphia, Nov. 23—(AP)—Mayor Harry A. Mackey announced today that he had accepted the resignation of Harry C. Davis, Director of the Department of Public Safety, and had appointed as his successor Lemuel B. Schofield, first Assistant District Attorney. Davis' resignation was forecast when the special grand jury investigating bootlegging uncovered corruption in his department.

Declare Barrymore Still Married To His Second Wife

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 23—(AP)—A telephoned warning to the marriage license bureau from an unidentified woman who insisted that John Barrymore still is legally bound to his second wife, and the apprehensions of a father about his daughter's future as the mate of the stage and screen star today threatened to come between Barrymore and his intended bride, Dolores Costello.

When Barrymore appeared Tuesday and applied for a license to wed Miss Costello, 22 year old film star and daughter of the screen veteran, Maurice Costello, he declined to explain where and when his second wife, Blanche Oelrich Barrymore, obtained a divorce. Later, however, he issued a statement saying that such a divorce had been granted and that Mrs. Barrymore No. 2, who writes under the pen name of Michael Strange, was "abroad" at present.

After it had become known that the mysterious woman had attempted to halt the issuance of the marriage license, Costello revealed that in the past he had objected to the attention which Barrymore had been paying to his daughter, but said that he had "forgiven both of them" when the girl disclosed that she expected to wed the 41 year old actor.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Then I saw that wisdom excelleth folly, as far as light excelleth darkness.—Evoli. 2:13.

The clouds may drop down titles and estates, wealth may seek up; but wisdom must be sought.—Young.

You Can't Rely on Luck

AFTER ALL, be as careful as you can—but you can't be sure of escaping an accident. Surely, it is a matter of chance that it is your neighbor, and not you, who falls and breaks his neck. Or, that a falling building cornice gives the other fellow a fractured skull and a six months' stay in the hospital.

You simply can't rely on luck or being careful. The sensible thing is Accident Insurance. The rates are so low you cannot possibly afford to be uninsured.

We would appreciate an opportunity to explain the protection afforded by a Continental Casualty Company Accident Insurance policy. You will be surprised at the liberal protection a small amount will buy. And you need not feel obligated in asking us for particulars.

The box being sent by the Woman's Club to the disabled veterans in the Elgin State Hospital, is to be packed at Kelley's store Monday. Everyone is urged to contribute to this very worthy cause. Please bring your gifts to the store early Monday morning. This is a splendid way to help someone be thankful next Thursday. Candy, fruit, tobacco, cigarettes, wash cloths and all useful articles will be gladly received.

Entertains Class

Mrs. Roy Shoemaker entertained the members of her Sunday school class of the Methodist church, and a few friends Friday evening. Progressive bunco was the entertainment, at which Scott Stultz and Helen Yocum were winners of first honors, while Jack Kelley and Jean Maronde were consolation winners. Dainty refreshments were most heartily enjoyed by the eighteen to the party said, "You just bet we young folks. One lad, on referring had a good time. Evelyn surely knows how." We agree with him.

Community Club

The Emmert school community club met Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Moulton, west of town. A very interesting program was rendered, including a debate. The topic of the debate was a timely one, viz. "Resolved that Married Life is More Desirable than Single Life." Yes, you guessed it, the affirmative version of the topic was given the honor of winning. Those arguing for the affirmative were: Mrs. Harry Naylor and Harold Wolf, and the negative was argued by Mrs. Bert Ortgiesen and Harry Naylor. The judges were Mrs. Wilbur Breunier, Mrs. Wilbur Emmert and Lee Fisel and their decision was rendered by an 11 to 9 score. Refreshments were enjoyed after the debate and social time followed.

Social a Success

One of the most successful and delightful social held for a long time was enjoyed Tuesday night at the Methodist church when one hundred and sixteen gathered in the church basement for a scramble supper. After the supper hour the folks were divided in groups of three; the children in one, the teen age in another and the "grown ups" in another, each group having a room to themselves. The children had just the best time ever under the direction of Mrs. Wilbur Breunier. The teen age say they had the best time under the direction of Miss Lorene Crum. And the "grown-ups" declare they just never had so much fun under the direction of R. C. Gross and Wilbur Breunier. It was decided recently by the Methodist people to put on what they termed as three church nights; the Sunday school to have charge of one, the aid society to have the second and the men of the church to have the last one. The Sunday school had charge of the first one, which was held Tuesday night, with Miss Winnifred Hansen as chairman.

Beautiful Chrysanthemums

Lloyd Group brought to our home this morning a beautiful bunch of chrysanthemums. It may not be generally known that Franklin Grove has a real hot house right in town, with blooming flowers in their season at all times. If you have not visited the green house of Mr. Group, now is the time to do so while the various color so beautiful chrysanthemums are in bloom. It also makes it very convenient for Franklin Grove folks to be able to get these lovely flowers without having to send out of town for them. When you think of something for a center piece for your table on Thanksgiving Day, remember Group and his chrysanthemums in our own midst.

Supper a Success

The chicken supper held in the basement of the Methodist church Thursday night was one of if not the largest supper ever held by the church societies. Over two hundred were fed. The society cleared over $100, which is especially good. The committee wishes to thank all who in any way helped to make the supper the success that it was.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wagner and Mrs. Nora Seaman motored to Watertown Saturday.

Mrs. Harvey Miller entertained on Sunday with a duck dinner the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Will Lott, Mrs. Laura Miller and daughter Grace, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Miller and daughter Mary Jean, and Miss Drucilla Lookingland.

A Loving Tribute

The following loving tribute to one who has passed on, was sent to us by a member of the bereaved family:

"As the male quartet sang the old familiar:

Now I lay me down to sleep

I pray the Lord my soul to keep;

If I should die before I wake,

I pray the Lord my soul to take,

At Austin Masonic Temple, where a large gathering of relatives and friends had assembled to pay their last respects to the memory of Frank MacGregor, the writer reverently and lovingly breathed "Goodnight," for in casting about in her thought and among her books for some thought to give to these dear bereaved ones to comfort them, she had come across an extract from the pen of one who has given much thought to this so-called death and who has written in part:— "We are spirits, that bodies should be lent up, while they can afford us pleasure, assist us in acquiring knowledge or in doing good to our fellow creatures, is a kind benevolent act of God. When our bodies become unfit for this purpose and afford us pain instead of pleasure, instead of aid become an incumbrance and answer none of the intentions for which they were given, it is equally kind and benevolent that a way is provided by which we are rid of them. Death is that way, our brother and friend and we were invited to journey of pleasure to last forever. His chair was ready first and he has gone before us. We could not all conveniently start together and why should we be dejected at this since we are soon to follow and since we know where to find him."

To everyone who had known him in the slightest must come the realization that "find him" is to follow the straight, narrow path he had trod since human life began for him in Franklin Grove, in January 1876. His early boyhood was spent in the town of this birth, but shortly after finishing school there he came to Chicago, where he spent the remainder of his life. He leaves to mourn his loss:

his wife, formerly Miss Jessie Hohn;

two sons, Robert and Richard; two brothers, William Wallace and Harry

Lincoln and two sisters, Mrs. Bessie

MacGregor Hubsch and Mrs. Lucille

MacGregor Martin, all of Chicago, as well as a host of friends in every walk of life.

Those who attended the final ser-VICES could not have helped but be impressed by the fact that evidently everyone who had ever come in contact with him in the slightest degree, had remembered him, and had been held to him by the invisible bond of genuine sincerity and friendliness which had accompanied his every thought and act. One in particular recalls that in her family when any particularly pleasing event was experienced, the first thought was to tell Frank so that he might "rejoice with us"; and when sorrow came the first thought was to tell Frank so that he might "help us bear it." One also could not but ponder on the fact that his friends included representatives from such varied walks in life.

It would seem that down through the years he had been accumulating and acquiring friends, many of whom he had not seen for years, but who told how they had met, known and always remembered and loved him. He had held the friendship and respect of everyone with whom he had ever come in contact both socially and in business, and this by reason of one virtue, he appealed to the very best and highest instincts of his fellow men, he had, without being himself conscious of it, taught them to respect themselves, and this is the bond which had brought them all to bow their heads in love, reverence and grief at his passing. His death occured in the Illinois Masonic Hospital,

Chicago, following an illness of less than a week. Beautiful and impressive funeral services were held under the auspices of the Chicago Commandery Knight Templar and Equity

Lodge A. F. & A. M. in Austin Masonic Temple, Monday, November 12, at 1:30 o'clock followed by brief services at the grave at Mount Emblem near Chicago, conducted by Equity Lodge and Spanish War Veterans McKinley Camp."

Obituary

The following obituary of Mrs. Silas Kregor was handed to us. The Kregor family lived in this vicinity and also this town for many years and have a large circle of friends here who are extending sympathy to the family.

Savannah, youngest daughter of Johnathan and Elizabeth Dumbauld, was born near Kingwood, Pa., October 6, 1856. She was one of a family of twelve children, all of whom have passed on, with the exception of one brother, J. B. Dumbauld, of LaJara, Colo.

She was united in marriage to Silas Kregor, March 19, 1876, at Franklin Grove, Ill., where the following children were born to them: Ira C., of Lottant; Mrs. Myrtle Hiltabrand of Wrightwood, Calif.; Mrs. Pearl Garvin of Wenona, Dr. Ray Kregor of Benson, Mrs. Elsie Judd of Lottant; Mrs. Ruby Tjaden of Rockford and two sons, Archer and Floyd, who died in infancy. Mrs. Kregor is also survived by seventeen grand children.

Mr. and Mrs. Kregor lived in the vicinity of Franklin Grove many years and moved to Lottant, Ill., where they conducted a hotel, later moving to a farm two miles west of Lottant, where they resided until the death of Mr. Kregor in 1916. Since that time the deceased has made her home in Lottant until a few months ago when she removed to the home of her

DRY POWDER TO

A Netherlands Professor Claims Invention
 of New Fuel

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
 Associated Press Science Editor
 Pittsburgh, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Invention of a new automobile fuel of dry powder named carbonal phine, promised by its inventor to simplify auto engine construction and partially to usurp steam power, was announced in a paper presented to the International Conference on Blum-inous Coal at the Carnegie Institute of Technology today.
 The author was Dr. Jacobus G.
 Aarts, director of the Privaat Institut Voor Technologie, Drogen, the Netherlands. He did not attend the congress and his paper was read by Karl L. Kithil, of Denver.
 Aarts said his fuel is pure active carbon, a product resembling fine graphite, and that it can be mixed with oil or pulverized coal to make motor fuel. He said his institute is building a special motor for the fuel and "hopes to have it running in three months, carbonal phine being used both liquid and dry."
 His process of manufacture is changing coal into carbon dioxide, the latter into carbon monoxide, and this into carbonal phine and carbon dioxide. The final carbon dioxide would be used again in the next batch of coal to make more carbonal phine. For the fuel he claimed "the finest structure imaginable, low combustion point, and very great lubrication power."

 Christians are lacking in faith, power is strangely absent. What is the trouble? Is it not because "Christ

 The Gospel of the Cross should be the only message. Oh, the riches of grace which the Apostles saw in the Cross of Calvary. How wonderful which comes short of Christianity.

 To drop "Christ Crucified" is to drop

A wise man does not live as though his income couldn't stop—he makes provision for sickness, lack of work, accidents or his declining years. Are you wise?

The improvidence of a large number of people is not due so much to a desire to spend every cent they earn, as to their failure to understand the value of small economies. Make a start. Ryan Leader in Financial World, and Also Political

THOMAS F. RYAN

The financial career of Thomas Fortune Ryan, who died in New York Friday noon, was mainly devoted to the consolidation and extension of street railway and electric light and power systems in New York, Chicago and other cities. About 1908 he re- signed as the controlling factor on the directorates of more than 30 cor- porations retaining directorships in only three, the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio Railway, the Clinchfield Coal Corporation and the Guaranty Trust Company of New York City.

He combined politics with business and for years was a leading figure in the councils of anti-Bryan wing of the Democratic party. In 1904, when a delegate from Virginia to the Democratic National Convention, he was said to have been largely instrumen- tal in reconciling opposing factions to the acceptance of Judge Alton B. Parker, the nominee, telegram de- claring for a gold standard plank.

Born in Nelson county, Va., October 17, 1851, and educated in the public schools, Ryan went to Baltimore at the age of 17 to work in a drygoods store. There he remained until 1870 when he came to New York and began work as a clerk for a Wall street concern. Four years later he became a member of the Stock Exchange. He became acquainted with William C. Whitney and for more than a quarter of a century had active charge of the latter's enterprises. In 1886, Whitney, Anthony N. Brady, John Dolan and Ryan united with the traction syndicate headed by P. A. B. Widener and William L. Elkins of Philadelphia to obtain con- trol of the New York transit com- panies. The Widener-Elkins syndicate, during a period of more than 30 years after having electrified the street car lines in Philadelphia, had entered city after city and state after state, acquiring street railways, gas and elec- tric lighting companies and develop- ing them on an enormous scale.

This syndicate, of which Mr. Ryan for years was a member, finally ac- quired the New York Metropolitan Traction Company with its sub- sidiaries which later became the In- terborough Rapid Transit Company. At one time the united capitalization of the street railways and public utility corporations the syndicate con- trolled reached $1,500,000,000. In ad- dition, Mr. Ryan was personally in- terested in the reorganization of va- rious railways in the South, street rail- ways in Ohio and the development of coal properties in Ohio and West Virginia.

He was a leader in the reorganiza- tion of the Richmond & Danville Sys- tem into the present Southern Rail- way; formed and executed plans for the organization of the Central of Georgia railroad and banking com- pany and obtained control of the Sea- board Air Line Railway after an eight years' contest. He also had diamond mine and rubber interests in the Congo Free State where King Leopold of Belgium granted him important concessions.

Mr. Ryan's reputation as a diplo- matic financier was greatly enhanced at 1902 when he went to London to take charge of the fight which the American Tobacco Company was then making against the Imperial Tobacco Company for a division of world ter- ritory for the tobacco trade. He won the fight completely in a few weeks and before leaving England had es- tablished relations with the British corporation, adding greatly to the American company's output by his tact.

In 1906, following the Armstrong legislative investigation of life in- surance companies in New York State, the revelations of extravagance and scandal and the passage of remedial legislation reorganizing and remodel- ing the life insurance companies of New York, Mr. Ryan was one of the leaders in a movement to protect the interests of policyholders.

The inquiry showed, among other things, that 5,000,000 policy holders were paying $500,000,000 a year in premiums and that only about one- third of that amount was ever paid out in any one year. The vast "cap- ital stock" had been used by the man- agers for their own aggrandizement. At this time, Mr. Ryan obtained control of the Equitable Life Assurance Society by purchasing for $2,000,000 the 502 shares held by James Hazen Hyde, son of the company's former President. He called upon Grover Cleveland, former President of the United States, Morgau J. O'Brien and George Westinghouse to act as trust- ees and straighten out its affairs.

Mr. Cleveland drew up a new char- ter while Mr. Ryan, meanwhile, quiet- ly obtained control of three trust companies and other subsidiary fin- ancial concerns dominated by the old managers of the life assurance soci- ety. Mr. Ryan then transferred his stock to the policyholders. Suits for the restoration of more than $100,000-000 were later brought against some of the old insurance officials.

Mr. Ryan was twice married, the first time to Miss Ida M. Barry, of Baltimore, whom Pope Pius made a Countess of the Holy Roman Em- pire in 1907. Mrs. Ryan died in 1914. Five sons were born to them. Mr. Ryan's second wife was Mrs. Car- melius C. (Nicoll) Cuyler of New York City, whom he married in 1917. For years Mr. Ryan had maintained a home, named "Oak Ridge," on the site of his birthplace in Virginia, where he maintained his legal residence; a country place at Suffern, N. Y., and a winter home at 858 Fifth avenue, New York City. After his second mar- riage, Mr. Ryan established a resi- dence in Washington.

Sharkey Signed for Four Winter Battles

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey has signed for three fights under the promotion of Tex Rickard during the winter season. Opponents have not been selected but Rickard said he would choose them from among Tom Heeney, Johnny Risko, Paulino Uzcudun, Knute Hansen and Young Stribling. Rickard plans to stage the Sharkey battles a month apart, starting in January.

It is understood that Rickard also has Sharkey under contract to meet Jack Dempsey again in the late spring or early summer, provided he disposes of his first three opponents, and also contingent upon Dempsey attempting another comeback.

BUG COLLECTOR MAKES HOBBY PAY FOR COLLEGE

Lebanon, Tenn.—(AP)—J. K. Alb- ight of Nashville is going through college on bugs and butterflies.

A senior at Cumberland university here, Albright spends his leisure time collecting specimens, selling enough to pay his expenses and keeping the others for exhibit.

He has a collection of more than 20,000 butterflies and moths, includ- ing two white males of the Sulphur variety of butterflies, considered ex- tremely valuable, Albright says, be- cause the male seldom changes its color from yellow to white. He has several specimens of the Cloudless Sulphur and Monarch varieties. The Monarchs possess scent glands to pro- tect them from birds and eject an ororous fluid when in danger.

Albright is a student of chemistry. He says his specimens range in value from five cents to $100 each.

CROWD AT URBANA

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 24—(AP)—Two old rivals of the gridiron, Ohio State and Illinois, renew their annual feud today and to the winner may go the championship of the Big Ten.

The championship edge all depended on a Minnesota triumph over Wisconsin's undefeated team, but from the interest exhibited in the Illinois-Buckeye combat, it appeared as if the fans took a Minnesota triumph for granted. Upwards of 35,000 were expected to watch the game.

Ohio State had a slight advantage in the line.

The game marked the last for Coach Jack Wilce as director of Ohio State's football destinies.

EAST VS MIDWEST

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 24—(AP)—Two exponents of the forward pass, Dartmouth of the east and Northwestern of the middle west, were set for a game of ultra-modern gridiron strategy were expected to be unloosed by the fleet teams. Although both elevens have been thrice defeated this season, the game attracted widespread interest as one of the few inter-sectional clashes of the day.

Dartmouth, whose attack has shown increased power and speed the past month, was conceded a better chance to win than Northwestern.

A fast dry field and cold weather were promised.

PRINCETON VS NAVY

Philadelphia, Nov. 24—(AP)—Princeton hopes for an undefeated football season were in the hands of the Navy today.

Locally Princeton ruled a slight favorite on the season's record of five victories and two tie games. Navy, however, after a disastrous early season, have won their five last games. Princeton has not beaten Navy since 1920, and five games have been played since then.

The Tiger relied on virtually the same eleven that defeated Yale last week 12 to 2.

NEBRASKA MEETS ARMY

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 24—(AP)—Army and Nebraska meet today in the only inter-sectional game on an eastern gridiron.

Nebraska's Cornhuskers, with one of the heaviest teams in the country, have crashed their way to impressive victories over five middle western opponents.

Army was undefeated and untied until it ran into Notre Dame two weeks ago and came out on the short end of a 12 to 6 score. To offset the tremendous weight advantage of Nebraska the Cadets have the flashy "Red" Cagle, one of the most brilliant broken-field runners in the east, and the line crushing Murrell, working behind sturdy forwards.

YALE VS. HARVARD

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 24—(AP)—The magnet of tradition drew 75,000 persons to New Haven today for the 47th gridiron duel between Yale and Harvard.

The result this year is much more of a toss up than it was a year ago when the bulldogs romped off with a 14-0 victory.

The favorite is Harvard, despite defeats by Army and Pennsylvania and a scoreless tie with Holy Cross. Against this record Yale's appears even less impressive, spotted as it is by defeats at the hands of Army, Maryland and Princeton.

It appeared certain that Johnny Garvey and Ed Decker, injured Yale stars, would see only emergency duty today.

Harvard will be at full strength.

CARNEGIE VS. N. Y.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 24—(AP)—The football game today between New York University and Carnegie Tech. potential national titlist, attracted nation-wide attention.

Carnegie, undefeated, was rated an odds-on favorite to repel the huddlers of Chick Meehan.

The game, in addition to having a direct bearing on national title hopes of Carnegie, brought together several leading candidates for all-American honors. Harpster, Tech quarter, is highly favored for that position on the mythical eleven as also are the New York University tackles, Lassman and Grant and Ken Strong, versatile backfield ace.

Chicago, Nov. 24—(AP)—Here is the win, lose or tie percentage table of the four contenders for the Big Ten football championship race, which ends today:

	Win	Lose	Tie
Wisconsin	1000	750	1000
Illinois	800	600	750
Iowa	800	600	750
Ohio State	800	500	750

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago, Nov. 24—(AP)—Minnesota's "thundering horde" carried the championship hopes and fears of four teams as the Big Ten football campaign ended on four widely separated fronts today.

Three of the teams, Illinois, Ohio State and Iowa, built their championship hopes on the ability of Minnesota to stop Wisconsin at Madison and their own abilities to win today, while the Badgers hoped to halt Minnesota and thereby annex their first Big Ten football crown since 1912.

With Ohio State invading Illinois,

Ohio State vs. Illinois Today

Here are several reasons why Ohio State's football team is one of the best in the Big Ten this season. The Buckeyes have the punch and these are the boys who give it. Bob Zupke has a job on his hands to stifle the Illinois defense to halt Eby and his pals when they invade the Illinois stadium November 24.

Eby is one of the best backs in the United States. He was a factor in the Buckeye win at Illinois in 1926 and was dangerous at Columbus last year when the Illini retaliated. Kruskamp played against Illinois two years ago but was out of school last year. He is a fine blocking halfback.

Holman, sophomore quarterback, is a transplanted fullback. Kriess and Cory were members of the 1927 squad. Horn and McConnell are sophomores. The Buckeyes appear to have the edge on the Illini in the matter of backs, but the fans recall two years ago when the Zupkes, at bay, were defeated only by a 7-6 score. C. E. Bowen, Illinois ticket manager, has distributed many tickets, but says there are plenty left.

Minnesota clashing with Wisconsin and Iowa fighting against Michigan at Ann Arbor, a day's crowd of 225,000 or more, the biggest in the Big Ten's history, was expected to see the curtain fall. Two other contests, Dartmouth at Northwestern, and Indiana at Purdue helped to swell the attendance mark.

Every contest, except that between Iowa and Michigan in which the Hawkeyes were big favorites, was regarded as a toss-up.

The Ohio State-Illinois game marked the last game as Buckeye coach for Jack Dilce, whose resignation is effective this winter. Each team has been defeated but with a chance for the title both elevens expected to give everything they had to win.

A battle of passes was promised at Evansville where Dartmouth sent its repudiated team to meet Northwestern in the only inter-sectional combat of the Western Conference card. Both teams have exhibited flashes of power despite poor seasons.

The "Old Oaken Bucket" was the tocsin of battle between Indiana and Purdue, and Lafayette was football mad. The two have been rivals almost since football began.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 24—(AP)—The Big Ten's battle of "ifs" for the conference championship centered around today's game between the rugged Minnesota eleven and Wisconsin's undefeated Badgers.

Wisconsin, in a desperate effort to gain its first Big Ten title since 1912 was keyed to the limit to beat the "thundering horde" of Minnesotans.

Minnesota, with no championship hopes of its own, was the lone star of encouragement to Iowa, Illinois and Ohio, because only in case of a Minnesota victory could any of them hope to win or share the championship spoils.

enough to send him down for a count of nine in the fifth before knocking him out in the eighth.

RUSSIAN INCREASES OIL EXPORTATION WORLDWIDE
Moscow—(AP)—Soviet oil exports during the past year were 2,653,000 tons compared with 2,006,000 tons in the year 1926-27.
Exports to England remained approximately the same, but the sale of Russian benzine in England showed an increase of 70 per cent. Exports to Germany increased about 100,000 tons and to Spain almost 180,000 tons.
The Standard Oil Company of New York exported a large quantity of Soviet benzine to South America and South Africa.

People who wish to cross the busy streets of Paris are to be provided at specified points with "lanes" marked out by two rows of brass studs. Motor-drivers must cross these lanes with care, as here the pedestrian has the first right.

Do you use engraved calling cards. If so come to us. B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

NEW THEORY IN VESTRIS SINKING
BY GOVT. OFFICER

Thinks Very Efforts of Its Officer to Save Vessel Aided Tragedy

New York, Nov. 24—(AP)—A theory that the very efforts taken by officers of the British liner Vestris to correct the vessel's fatal list in reality contributed to her foundering has been advanced by Walter F. Brown, Assistant Secretary of Commerce. Mr. Brown is aiding in one of the two federal investigations.

It is his theory that the pumping of the starboard water ballast tanks in the lowest part of the vessel, while the coal bunkers above remained filled or partly filled with water, raised the center of gravity of the vessel and accentuated the list.

Mr. Brown made his observations after the appearance on the stand of the Chief Engineer of the Vestris, James A. Adams, who testified that his firemen mutilated on him and their refusal to fire the boilers probably contributed to the sinking of the vessel.

In Contradiction
This was in direct contradiction of testimony by members of the crew that the firemen stuck to their posts until the last.

Leonel Dicorish, a little Negro quartermaster, who emerged as a hero of the disaster, told his story for the first time before the inquiry being conducted by United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle.

He belittled his own part in the disaster, and praised the officers and crew. He told of "stepping into the place" of one of the officers in superintending the lowering of two lifeboats and of unstrapping another boat from the deck, the boat which floated free and in which he picked up twenty persons and carried them to safety.

Both federal inquiries, that being conducted by the steamboat inspection service, which is under the Department of Commerce, and that being conducted by Mr. Tuttle were adjourned over the week end.

OLD HACK DRIVER CLINGS TO ANCIENT BROUGHAM

Waco, Tex.—(AP)—Perched high on the seat of a dilapidated brougham, the figure of an old-time hack driver who clings stubbornly to transportation ideas long since abandoned by others is seen every day in the public square at Waco.

Billy Elps has been in the hack business for half a century, and he still seeks passengers who will pay 15 cents for a ride. Business is slack, however, for seldom do the tired-looking, high-spirited, pull the lumbering vehicle down the street.

Elps came to Waco in the '80s from Gatesville in search of more passengers. Twenty-five years ago he had a prosperous trade.

"Don't be afraid to ride with me," says a card in the brougham. "I have hauled over half a million people." The brougham cost $1056 when it was bought in St. Louis in 1886. Its upholstery shows signs of hard wear, and there are splits in the covering of the top. In one corner of the passenger's compartment hangs a gold-plated hair brush with a mirror on its back that once reflected the faces of Texas belles.

"Somebody might want to use it some time," says Elps, hopefully.

COOLIDGE RATION RAISE
AIDS SOLDIERS' MORALE

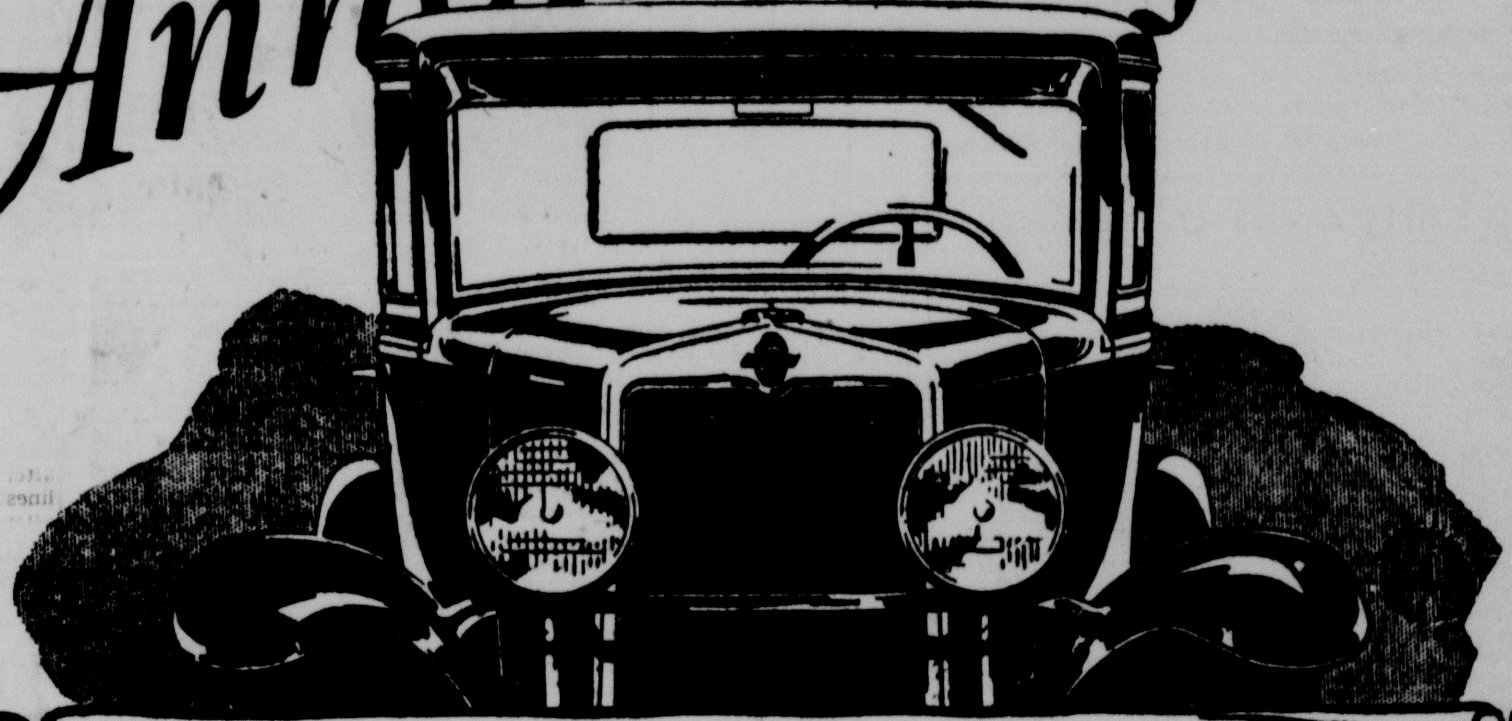

Washington—(AP)—Little in recent years is regarded as having done more to raise the morale of the enlisted man in the army than the order of President Coolidge raising the daily ration rate from 30 to 50 cents.

A certain amount of fancy food on mess tables will result. Realizing this Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, has ordered a number of majors and lieutenant colonels from each corps area to take courses in mess management at the Army Subsistence school in Chicago.

The officers go into the kitchen and see how it's done.

Come now while selection is still very choice for Christmas Greeting cards. B. F. Shaw Printing Co. If Announcing -

The Outstanding Chevrolet
of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History... a Six in the price range of the four!

Spectacular as Chevrolet's achievements have been in the past... notable as its engineering triumphs have proved themselves to be—this remarkable new car dwarfs every previous Chevrolet accomplishment. Not only does it introduce into the low-priced field an entirely new measure of performance, comfort, beauty and style—but it is sold at prices so low as to alter every previous conception of motor car value.

The new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—developed from more than a hundred motors designed especially for this sensational car—stands out as an engineering masterpiece. With a power increase of approximately 32% over the previous Chevrolet motor... with sensationally greater speed and faster acceleration—it offers a type of performance that is literally astounding—even to those who have been accustomed to driving cars costing hundreds of dollars more. And it affords an economy averaging better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

In appearance, this Outstanding Chevrolet is destined to become an automotive sensation—so smart, so stylish and so distinctively appointed that it rivals the costliest custom creations. The marvelous new Fisher bodies are longer, lower and roomier with an adjustable driver's seat in all closed models—and reveal the matchless artistry of Fisher designers. With their modish new colors, their smart dual mouldings and their distinctive concave pillars, they achieve a degree of original beauty that has seldom been equalled in motor car design.

You are cordially invited to visit our showroom and secure complete and detailed information on this sensational new car which will be ready for delivery beginning January 1st.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Fate introduces JERRY RAY to ALESTER CARSTAIRS when he crashes his airplane into the camp she is sharing with her roommate. RUTH DEWEY GROVES, DAN HARVEY, but Alester admires her beauty and shows her attention.

Unable to buy a gown for a party he has invited her to, Jerry yields to the temptation to slip one from the store for the evening. When they taut her for being "dressed in a cheap gown," she is surprised one evening when Dan calls. He proposes and she tells him she does not believe in love but hopes to marry for money. He leaves after trying to woo her.

Alester makes advances which Jerry repulses. But when he tells her the last she has left on his account, he becomes contrite and uses his influence to get her to accept a check from him. He tells her she is not a "flirt" and she is not a "flirt."

Angered, he gives a wild party, but Jerry ignores him. Any other but she is not a "flirt" and she is not a "flirt."

Now go on with the story
CHAPTER XXXV
JERRY felt her eyes off the audience as long as she could, but finally succumbed to the temptation to look over the footlights. She was dancing in the first row of girls, near the end.

She glanced quickly at the box just a few feet away from her, thinking that Alester might be in it. She did not locate him there. He had said he was going out front when he left her and Evelyn at the stage door.

Jerry felt a little chill of apprehension come over her. It dispelled a degree of her stage fright. Had she been too severe—too independent?

Blamety blam blam! The music was growing faster. Jerry's body began to free itself of tautness. She looked straight out over the footlights and tried to smile, remembering that Mr. Hule had told them not to let their faces "set."

In the first row a woman lifted her hands to applaud. Jerry caught the flash of jewels on her wrist. The woman's companion was watching Jerry, trying to make her look at him. Jerry kept her eyes over his head, seeking Alester.

She found herself thrilling now to the knowledge that her stage fright had passed, that actually she was before the public and enjoying it. The spell of the theater began to weave itself about her. The music crept into her blood, the applause showered her with tingling gratification.

Curtain! A thunder of applause. Hysterical people congratulating themselves and each other in the relief of the moment.

Mr. Hule, grim, "Wait," he said. "No, man! No!" It was the

TUNNEY RETURNS DEC. 19
Rome, Nov. 23—(AP)—A dispatch to Giornale D'Italia from Pola today said that Gene Tunney had fixed December 19 as the date for his departure to the United States. The item added that he had announced his intention of returning with Mrs. Tunney early next spring to the Island of Brioni, where they have been spending their honeymoon. He was quoted as being pleased with the privacy which had been afforded him and his wife at the Adriatic resort.

The roll of school children in London is decreasing by about 3000 annually, owing to the lower birth rate.

producer, a hand on his director's shoulder. "We're going to have a first act gets them like that."

"They'll tire."

JERRY heard no more. Encore! For the star, of course, but the audience wanted the chorus, too—the little girls in bridesmaids' costumes. Jerry was one of them.

Delicious shivers shook her when she took her first curtain call. She was part of a hit! Part of something the public liked.

Back in the dressing room Evelyn waited to congratulate her. To them the show was Jerry's. The star was merely an adjunct. Jerry had made good. Nothing else mattered.

Tears sneaked down Jerry's cheeks when Evelyn hugged and kissed her. "Aren't you funny?" she said. "Who saw me?"

"Mr. Hule did," Evelyn replied. "Oh, darling, you danced divinely. 'Hurry into your change,' the wardrobe mistress called, and Jerry turned obediently to her dressing table.

"Flowers for Miss Ray," someone yelled from the door. Jerry started to run toward it, but Evelyn pulled her back. "Let Mrs. Dwight get them," she said, "you haven't time."

The wardrobe mistress hurried over to the door and soon returned with a long box in her arms.

Jerry couldn't stop to open it. She had to go scurrying with the other girls back to the stage, climbing the steps from the dressing room and threading her way through the piled-up scenery.

There was a generous round of applause when the curtain went up for the second act and then there occurred one of those things that make life in the theater so uncertain.

The show died. The promise of the first act was unfulfilled. Relaxed nerves grew tight again; smiling faces became strained. The audience had not applauded the big scene in the second act. Everyone knew then that the show would be a flop unless new life could be put into it before the curtain was lowered.

Mr. Hule was tearing his hair. Mr. Weinertz, out front with his guests, mouthed an imaginary cigar between his lips and groaned inwardly.

Someone leaned over to him and whispered: "Too much costume."

Mr. Weinertz nodded. He knew it; he'd told Harrell his big idea was no good. You couldn't wistful appetites by overdressing the girls just to add a kick to their scanty appearance in the last act, he'd said, and now he knew it was true!

HE got up and made his way backstage in search of the man who had led him into committing this stupid blunder. The culprit was found in an argument with the stage director.

"You've got to do something!" the producer cried frantically. "We're dying!"

"All right," Harrell replied, "we'll step it up. Instead of waiting for the third act we'll introduce the bathing girls here. Get busy, Hule."

HOOVER IS HERO TO HIS FORMER BRITISH BUTLER

Says President-Elect is the Kindest Man He Ever Worked For

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

London—It may be true that no man is a hero to his valet. But Herbert Hoover was a hero to his butler. Take it from John Dunn—the President-elect of the United States—the kindest, most human, most generous and most democratic man that a fellow ever worked for.

And John Dunn ought to know, because this gentle-voiced, be-speckled Englishman served Herbert Hoover for three years as butler when the Hoovers lived in London from 1911 to 1914.

Dunn's face beams as he talks about the good old days, the most pleasant ones he ever knew. Dunn is now a bank messenger for the National Bank out King's Cross way, London, and lives in a flat above the bank. One look at his little parlor shows he is Hoover's kind of man—some nice pictures on the wall and a Holy Bible on the table.

Sent Car for Butler's Family
"When I took service with Mr. Hoover," said Dunn, "he had an office as a mining engineer down in the city, and a big house known as Red House of Campden Hill, where he lived. I never had a kinder or more considerate boss. This will give you his measure:

"While the house was being made ready, my wife and our three boys and three girls were living with my sister. As soon as our rooms were finished, Mr. Hoover sent his own car to fetch my family.

"But that's not all. There was no side or swank to Mr. Hoover. He was a real democrat. My three boys played with his sons, Herbert, Jr., and Allen. Often I have seen the five of them, each with a toy boat, off to Kensington Gardens to sail their vessels on the Round Pond there.

"And the youngsters were taken in on everything. Every Christmas he would give a big party for the servants and all the children. Mr. Hoover himself would dress up as Santa Claus and distribute presents from a huge tree.

"But he gave us all a real surprise on our first Easter. I understand it's a regular thing in America, but we never had seen it before. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover boiled a lot of eggs and cycled them all kinds of fancy colors. Then on Saturday night they slipped out in the garden and hid the eggs in all sorts of odd places. Easter Sunday morning, his children and mine were told to go out and find where the rabbit laid the eggs. He gave a prize to the one finding the most. It was great fun, I tell you.

"Mr. Hoover was always doing nice things. One summer he came to me and handed me a ten-pound note. That was almost $50 in American money. He said, 'You take the missus and the kids and go to the seashore for a little holiday.'

Hoover Preferred American Goods
One of the things that still looms large in John Dunn's memory is what used to happen sometimes on hot summer evenings. Mr. Hoover would decide it was too warm to eat inside and that it was just right for a meal out on the lawn. 'He'd chuck his coat,' declared Dunn, 'roll up his shirt sleeves and give me a hand carrying the big table out. Nothing proud or stuck up about him!'

"One of the things that made me mad was to read in the papers the way the political enemies attacked him, called him 'Sir Erbert' and said he had gone British.

"Now I am a good Englishman, but I am here to tell you that Mr. Hoover was always a good American. Most of the guests he liked best to entertain were Americans like Ambassador Page, the American Consul General, and big American business men. I remember one Fourth of July he gave a big party on the lawn and how he and Mrs. Hoover led the guests in singing all your American patriotic songs.

"Have I written him congratulating him because the American people were sensible enough to elect him by such a big majority? Of course I did. And I'd love to see him inaugurated."

Spared in Factory Blast

There were eleven in the Blaney family before an explosion of celluloid and chemicals wrecked the Preble Box Toe Factory across the street from their home in Lynn, Mass. Now the home is gone, the father was taken dying, to a hospital, and only these four children survive. Harry and Norman Blaney, front, were injured by the blast; Lillian and Ella escaped unscathed. Both their mother, Mrs. Harry Blaney, four sisters and one brother were killed.
